Situation:

Gelsenkirchen-Schalke is a multicultural neighbourhood (130 nationalities) in Gelsenkirchen, a large city (260,000 inhabitants) in the heart of the Ruhr area. Those with migration background are about 25%, unemployed about 14%. Gelsenkirchen offers a wide range of cultural activities, many extensive parks invite you to walk, jog and relax. The public transport system is well developed. We at the Baptist Erlöserkirche want to shape the district in the name of God. This is why we have programs in place for children eg learning a musical instrument, a place where weekly up to 45 children from the district play, do handicrafts and cook. During the summer holidays there is a holiday program for children (this year for teenagers).

Of course there are other community groups: senior citizens' circle, play afternoon and café, teenie meeting, youth group, house groups and a choir.
